

License Royalty Free Music for Your Media Project!

$7.50 per song or $75.00 for an entire album, you can legally use Philip's music on your media project royalty-free.

What this Royalty-Free License Covers:

1. Web Site Use: You get unlimited use of the licensed song on your web site provided that the song cannot be downloaded by your visitors (most people embed the music in flash to prevent this). You must also provide an obvious song credit to me with a link back to this web site. Something to the effect of... "The piano music you're hearing is courtesy of Philip Wesley

Limit: One song license per web site please. In other words, for two web sites using the same song, please purchase an additional license. The license is valid for the purchaser only and is non-transferable.

2. CD / DVD / Slide Show Use: So long as yours is a small, independent project (less than 100 copies manufactured), you can use the song(s) you license freely using our standard license fee of $7.50 per song. A credit should appear in the project as follows...

Limit: Use of Philip's music in a theatrical film or television broadcast is not covered by this license. For use of Philip's music in commercial film or television, Contact Philip at philipw@philipwesley.com with the specifics for a quote. The license is valid for the purchaser only and is non-transferable.

4. On-Hold Music / Lobby Music: Once a license is purchased, you can use Philip's music as "hold" music for as long as you want, without limitation, royalty-free. However, we do ask that your "agents" be instructed what the music is so that if a customer should ask "what music was that I heard" they can answer "piano music by Philip Wesley" and provide the customer with the correct spelling of Philip's name.

Limit: One license per site please. For use in a second location, please purchase an additional license. The license is valid for the purchaser only and is non-transferable.

5. Radio Spots: You can use one of Philip's songs in your radio spot for $7.50 per spot. Once you purchase a license for a radio spot, you can run that spot as much as you like, wherever you like.

Limit: One license covers up to five radio spots. If you'd like a license to cover using a song in unlimited radio spots, Contact Philip at philipw@philipwesley.com for a quote. The license is valid for the purchaser only and is non-transferable.

What This License Doesn't Cover:

1. Mass Production or Distribution: Song(s) under this license agreement cannot be included in any commercial product that is mass produced (100 or more units). A product release of more than 100 units requires a different license. Contact Philip Wesley at philipw@philipwesley.com with the specifics of your project for a quote.
2. Commercial Theater or Television Releases: Use of Philip's music in a theatrical film or television broadcast is not covered by this license. For use of Philip's music in commercial film or television, contact Philip at philipw@philipwesley.com with the specifics for a quote.
3. Adult Themes: Song(s) licensed cannot be included in projects that may be inappropriate for children (containing violence, profanity or nudity). If your project contains any of these elements, but you still feel the music is appropriate, please contact Philip at philipw@philipwesley.com with the specifics.
4. Sharing, Trading, Downloading: Song(s) licensed cannot be redistributed, traded, made available for download, or otherwise transferred to anyone else. Nor can they be included in a project in that allows the end-customer to transfer the songs for personal use.

5. Reselling: Songs cannot be resold as songs. In other words, you can't license Philip's music, create your own CD or DVD of those songs, and resell it as your own product. That is a blatant copyright violation.

Other stipulations:

1. Note that when you license a song, you don't own it. You are licensing it for use. There is a legal difference in the copyright sense. If you purchase a CD, obviously you own the CD - but you don't own the copyright to the songs themselves.
2. The songs you license cannot be the main content of your product (see #5 above). This license is designed to allow you to use Philip's music simply to compliment your existing product or project.
3. This license covers a single user only. It cannot be transferred to another party.
